

James H. New traces his ancestry back to Revolutionary times. His grandfather, William New, having been a soldier in that war, in which he served as a member of Marion's famous Legion. The great-grandfather, William New, came to this country in 1763, settling on Chicksaw River in Virginia. He had two sons, John & William. William and two sons fought in the Revolutionary War, the former being Colonel of Lee's Dragons. He was wounded on Roanoke while pursuing Lord Cornwallis and died from effects of that injury. William was in the war of 1812, and two sons were in the battle near Baltimore, Maryland. James H. New is also a descendant on his mother's side of Jesse Lee. His parents were James and Mary M. New. James senior was born in Halifax County, July 4, 1805, and was of English Descent. He was married in 1833, shortly after which he moved to Georgia and returned in one year, then going to Lauderdale County, Mississippi, where he lived until his death on September 17, 1864. They were parents of 4 children, Saleta A., Mary M., John R., and James H. New, the later having been next to the oldest, and was born in Lauderdale County, Mississippi, August 14, 1839.

He began farming for himself at the age of 22. He came to Arkansas in 1869 and located in the present farm, which was then in Phillips County, composed of 160 acres, of land, 70 acres being under cultivation. Mr. New was married in August 1865, to Emily Clayton, also a native of Mississippi, who died in December 1884, after having borne ten children, six still living, William V., Hattie L., James L., John R. and Rebecca C. New. Another son, Walter New, enlisted in the Secret Service of U.S.A. in November, 1862, and was a member of non-commissioned officer of the first Mississippi Mounted Rifle Men. He served until close of the war, participated in the battle of Chickasaw Bluff, Harrisburg, and others. He is a conservative democrat, also a member of Farm Secret Alliance, and is ruling elder in the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, of which he has been a member for 18 years.

Clayton
James^H New's second marriage was to Frances C. New, and to this union were born Emily Frances New and Levi Lester New. This son was drafted in World War I, and was rejected by reason of being physically unfit. Levi L. married to Myrtle F. had three children, Leo L., Ralph Eldon and Wilma Jean New. Wilma Jean died at an early age, around 18 years of age. Leo L. New Married to Era H., they have two children, Lane L. and Delores. Leo L. Served with the National Guard in the 206th Coast Artillery and overseas in World War II, receiving injury at Dutch Harbor. Ralph Eldon Married to Mary N., they have three children, Eldon E. New, Paul S. New and Margie New. Ralph Eldon served with the U.S. Navy in Europe and the South Pacific during World War II.
